Description:

The project is a web and mobile-based real estate management application designed to manage property listings, rentals, and customer inquiries. The system supports multiple user roles, including Admin and End Users, with role-based access control.

Users can add, edit, and publish properties, manage unit details, upload images, and track inquiry status. Admin users can verify property data, manage users, and monitor platform activity. The project follows an Agile development approach, with testing and development running in parallel to ensure timely and high-quality releases.
